

COMMITTEE READY TO PREPARE REPORT

Body Handling Telephone Rate Controversy Will Meet at City Building Tomorrow.

TO MAKE RECOMMENDATION

Expected that Committee Will Suggest Employment of Engineer to Fight the Case.

The committee recently appointed by Mayor C. W. Burkart to represent the city in the telephone rate increase controversy is expected to meet at the city building tomorrow morning to prepare its final report. It is understood that the committee and the representatives of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company have been unable to reach an agreement and that the majority of the members feel that the wise thing to do is to carry the controversy to the Indiana public service commission which has the final voice of approval regardless of the action taken here.

According to the present plans the committee will prepare its report tomorrow morning and a meeting of telephone subscribers and citizens will be called for 8 o'clock tomorrow night to hear the statement. The committee named by Mayor Burkart was composed of W. C. Young, W. F. Bush, John A. Ross, T. M. Homan and Charles Leininger. Although the committee has not made public what the report will contain, statements made by individual members of the body indicate that the report will state that the committee and company were unable to agree as to rates, and will recommend that the city council employ an expert accountant and telephone engineer to aid in fighting the case before the commission. The valuation of the local company has never been fixed officially by the commission although the books of the company place it at $105,000.

If the committee recommends that the engineer and accountant be employed to prepare the report in behalf of the local subscribers, a special meeting of the council may be called for Wednesday night when the matter will be given due consideration.

EFFORT MADE TO GET KRYL BAND HERE FOR JULY 20

Regular Schedule Would Bring Big Chautauqua Number Here on Saturday, July 19.

The matter of changing the program schedule which is operated by Redpath lyceum bureau so that Kryl's band can come here on Sunday, July 20, instead of Saturday, has been taken up with the Redpath bureau. This is one of the strongest numbers of the entire week and local people are hoping that arrangements can be made to have the band concerts Sunday afternoon and Sunday night. Saturday, it is pointed out, is a busy day for everyone and many would be unable to enjoy the concerts. It is expected that a decision will be reached within a few days. The plan is to have Saturday's program on Sunday so Saturday will be an open day instead of Sunday.

WHEAT ARRIVING IN CAR LOAD LOTS

Blish Milling Company Expects to Receive About 55,000 Bushels in Next Ten Days.

MILLS MAY START WEDNESDAY

John E. Murphy, of Butlerville, Maintains Record by Sending First Car to Company Here.

The Blish Milling Company is receiving new wheat in car load lots and expects to have at least fifty car loads in its elevators within the next week or ten days. This will be approximately 55,000 bushels of wheat. Several weeks ago the local mills ground all the wheat held in its elevators so that they could undergo repairs and be put in first class condition for the new crop. Considerable work has been done on the elevators during the time that mill has been closed and the company is in a position to handle the receipts rapidly.

As no wheat from last year's crop was on hand the mills can not resume operation until several thousands bushels of the new crop are received. To start the mills before a large supply is delivered would mean that the run could not be continuous. However the management believes that the deliveries by local farmers and from distant points will be sufficient to justify the resumption of operations probably by Wednesday.

The first car load of wheat this year received by the Blish mills came from John E. Murphy, of Butlerville, a brother of Charles Murphy, of this city. Mr. Murphy has delivered the first car of wheat to the mills here for the last twelve or fifteen years. The wheat which came from Butlerville is of exceptionally good quality and measures up well with the fine grain that Mr. Murphy always ships here.

The car which came Saturday tested sixty-one pounds and the grain was unusually plump, bright and clean. The Blish mills in preparation for heavy local receipts during the next few weeks may arrange for a man to be on duty at night for the convenience of farmers who desire to deliver grain which is threshed late in the afternoon.

BENHAM'S IDEA OF RECLAMATION BILL

Representative of Fourth District Thinks It Ought to Include "Run Down" Farms.

IN INTEREST OF SOLDIERS

Congressman From This District Enters Upon Duties With Comprehensive Grasp of Affairs.

(By W. B. Barr.)

Washington, July 7.—Men like Will Hays and Senators New and Watson are so often in the lime light that public attention is frequently focused on their activities, but, there are men less well known and of later introduction into the national arena, whose basic qualifications as to the study of political science and the fundamentals of safe and sane economics, make them of substantial value of the most genuine form, in representing the interests of the Hoosier State.

A prominent instance of this sort comes from the district formerly represented by Lincoln Dixon, the Fourth Indiana.

Interested only as a citizen in the trend of certain legislation, the writer had a pleasant hour talk with Mr. Benham, and left him with great respect for his modesty first, and second, for his comprehensive grasp of the business of the country to which he is giving his particular thought and service.

To illustrate we mention Secretary Lane's land proposal to aid returning soldiers and sailors to secure homes. Fundamentally impartial law making should endeavor to make this legislation as nearly conformable to the ideas of soldiers and sailors as is possible, with due regard to good business principles, for the soldier or sailor desires only proper opportunity to help himself.

The law when passed should permit the widest latitude in choice of locality to reside in, and should have no relation to sections of country as to political effect or preferential development.

It should not be discriminatory as between men who have some money of their own and men who have none, but who seek to purchase and develop property and establish homes.

"SECRET GOVERNMENT" FORMED, GRAHAM CHARGES

Chairman of Special Committee on War Expenditures Points to Unusual Power.

By United Press

Washington, July 7.—United States has had a "secret government" during the war which functioned in disregard of the law, Chairman Graham of the special house committee on war expenditures charged today. Graham characterized as the "secret government" the council of national defense.

Changes made by Graham were: That the President disregarded the intent of congress to make the committee purely advisory and made the members real executives.

The commission allowed interested parties to fix prices of war supplies and violated anti-trust laws.

A press censorship was planned by the commission at the suggestion of Philip Patchia, of the state department.

The commission designed a system of food control and selected Herbert Hoover as director.

Such "unprecedented and illimited powers were assumed by the commission that several members of the cabinet protested. The work of the commission was such that several federal bureaus were acting against each other, thus increasing price of supplies.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT UNION SERVICE

First of Series of Meetings at Shields Park During Summer Held Sunday Night.

REV. F. A. HAYWARD SPEAKS

Pastor of First Baptist Church Delivers Inspiring Address—Music by Orchestra.

The first of a series of union services to be held at Shields park during the summer under the auspices of the City Ministerial Association was conducted Sunday night and was largely attended. An inspiring address was delivered by the Rev. F. A. Hayward, pastor of the First Baptist church, who spoke on the subject, "Display The Banner." His sermon was based on the Golden Psalm, "Thou hast given us a banner to be displayed because of the truth."

In his introductory, Mr. Hayward outlined the military conflicts which occurred during the reign of David. There were three outstanding battles and the speaker pointed out that in each the armies under the leadership of David represented the hosts of God defeated the forces of evil and wrong.

Mr. Hayward then directed attention to the American flag and the principles for which it stands. He pointed out that the flag is emblematic of sacrifice, purity and loyalty. "Men have become to recognize in our flag a remarkable banner of a remarkable people," he said. "The flag has become to us the insignia of liberty and we see in it the essence of the great principles for which it stands."

The speaker recalled that the present banner of the nation is the third flag of the United States. The first carried an emblem of a serpent.

BASEBALL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

Local Fans Planning To Get Fast Amateur Team Together—Ben Taylor Will Pitch.

Plans are underway to organize a fast baseball club in this city and providing a suitable lot for a ball park can be secured it is likely that the opening game will be staged next Sunday. Local fans have been contemplating organizing a team here for some time and at present the promoters are very enthusiastic over the prospects of staging some fast amateur games in Seymour.

Ben Taylor, of Bedford, who has been pitching for the Brownstown White Sox this season, was in the city this morning and signed up to play with the Seymour team. He has also been employed as field manager for the team. Taylor is one of the best twirlers in Southern Indiana and for several years played professional ball. The new team's battery will be Taylor and "Frosty" Hermann, who have formed the battery for the Brownstown White Sox which team, it is understood, is about to disband on account of not receiving enough support.

Several years ago Seymour had one of the fastest amateur baseball teams in the state and it is the in-

COMMISSIONERS IN REGULAR SESSION

Contracts for Two Concrete Highways in Jackson Township Are Awarded This Afternoon.

CONSTRUCTION OF FOUR MILES

Hancock & Kattman to Build Seymour-Brownstown Road—Work Expected to Start Soon.

The contracts for the construction of two concrete roads in Jackson township were awarded by the county commissioners in session today. The contract for building the Seymour-Brownstown road for a distance two miles west of Seymour, was awarded to Hancock & Kattman, Brownstown contractors. The Davis Construction Company of Arcadia, Ind., was awarded the contract to build the Seymour-Dudleytown road extending south on Walnut street to the White School house.

In offering the bid on the Seymour-Brownstown road, conditions were made as to the kind of gravel to be used. By using White river gravel instead of Ohio river the cost of the road would be almost $2,000 cheaper. Although the contract was awarded the commissioners have not as yet instructed the contractors as to the kind of gravel they must use.

At their session this afternoon the commissioners ordered the Brownstown-Honeytown road improved with concrete and the viewers were appointed. The road is to be improved from the iron bridge crossing White river east of Brownstown to the Honeytown school.

The regular monthly claims against the county were awarded by the commissioners this afternoon. Considerable business was taken up by the commissioners and it will be late this afternoon before the session is adjourned.

WILSON'S MESSAGE ABOUT COMPLETED

President to Deal With World Problems When He Delivers Address to Congress.

FACTORS IN BUSINESS LIFE

Detailed Explanation of Peace Conference May Be Left to Departmental Representatives.

By United Press

Aboard the U. S. Steamer George Washington, July 7 (Wireless).—President Wilson's message to congress was practically completed today. Primarily, it is expected to be a report to congress on what has been done in Paris together with a broad analysis of the world situation following the conclusion of peace.

The President probably will explain the guarantees of permanent peace which have been exacted as well as the manner in which the continued blockade assures Germany's observance of the terms imposed at Versailles.

It is also believed the message will outline economic factors necessary for American business men to consider. The President is not expected to attempt detailed explanation leaving these for the departmental representatives of the peace commission.

R-34 MAY BEGIN FLIGHT TOWARDS ENGLAND TODAY

Big British Dirigible Undergoes Repairs Following Arrival at Long Island Yesterday.

By United Press

Mineola, L. I., July 7.—The great British dirigible R-34 which completed its trans-Atlantic flight yesterday morning may start its homeward journey late today, according to unofficial information obtained today at Roosevelt Field. No confirmation could be obtained from any of the British or American naval officials. The work of overhauling and re-fueling the airship was rushed during the night and was still in progress this morning. The belief prevails that if this work is completed late this afternoon the return flight might be started at once, providing weather conditions are favorable. The final decision in this regard naturally would rest with Major Scott, commander.

More than 800 men assisted in aiding R-34 to effect a landing yesterday and remained on duty all night in relays of 250. This system will continue until the airship departs.

The R-34 completed its landing at Roosevelt Field at 9:53 yesterday morning following a flight officially set at 3,130 miles, in one hundred and eight hours and twelve minutes. Major Scott estimated that the dirigible's average speed was 29½ knots an hour.

The Daily Vacation Bible School which is being conducted at the First Baptist church enters the third week with an enrollment of 73. The school will continue through this week and next. New pupils may take up some lines of the work and continue till the close of the school. Any who were absent today are asked to be present again tomorrow. The faculty now is composed of John A. Barnett, principal, Rev. F. A. Hayward, Mrs. Maude Boas, Mrs. Simpson Wells, Mrs. T. E. Ross, Misses Mary Lewis, Marie Gudgel, Anna Holland Carter and Marian Crabb.

SPLENDID SUCCESS IN CHAUTAUQUA TICKET SALE

Program for Local Assembly Featured With Highest Grade of Talent.

The chautauqua week for Seymour is drawing near. Interest in the program which is featured with the highest grade of talent is indicated by the quick response to advance sale of season tickets. Seymour is to receive the same program which is given at Louisville, the talent coming direct from there.

The program is of a varied character from Albert Packard, the humorist and cartoonist, widely known for his daily cartoons in a western city, to a lecture of a more serious trend by R. E. P. Kline on "The New Conception".

One feature for the week and which is valued as worth the price of a season ticket alone is the coming of the company presenting one of America's most delightful comedies "It Pays to Advertise." This attraction will be given on the sixth night. This is one of the most successful of modern plays. It is so well in basic human value that it cheers the heart and diverts the mind at the same operation.

"It Pays to Advertise" is absolutely clean and wholesome and this fact combined with the rich Americanism of its humor the rapid-fire idioms contained in the dialogue and the many clever situations effected, mark its New York production one of the most successful comedy drama in years. The comedy runs over with laughs and before the company has been before you ten minutes the play will reach out after you and rap you genially on the back, and you will be aware of a warm, comfortable feeling that will cause you to settle back contentedly with the complete trust that it is going to keep you jovial and interested the whole evening.

The sale of season tickets in the hands of Mrs. H. V. Evans is meeting with marked success which means that Seymour will have one of the most successful Chautauquas in its history.

BLACKBERRY CROP IS THE BIGGEST IN YEARS

New Demand Created by Canning
Factories Expected to Have Influence on Price.

Although the wild blackberry crop is the largest in many years, the indications are that the price will be high. Fruit is scarce in this locality and many housewives are expecting to can and preserve many gallons of blackberries. The demand together with the fact that the canning factories will pack berries this year is expected to affect the local market price.

A few berries are reaching the market but the big crop will not come in before the last of this week or the first of next, farmers declare. The present retail prices range from fifteen to twenty-five cents a quart. It is expected that the price will be considerably lower than this as the receipts become heavier.

NEW WHEAT CROP SHOWS ALMOST AVERAGE TEST

However, Grain in Some Sections is Not up to Standard—Yield
Under Normal.

With new wheat from all sections of the county arriving at the local elevators, the buyers are in a better position to judge the quality and yield and believe that the grain will show almost the normal test, although the crop as a whole will not be as large as last year. In some localities the wheat heads are not well filled and the grains are shriveled and light. Farmers say that the grain is not as uniform as they had hoped and that all qualities of wheat are found in the same fields.

Wheat is at its height in this county. Many farmers worked Sunday in the hay fields in order to get the crop under shelter or in stack before the threshers arrive. The threshing crews are working from early morning until late at night in order that the grain may be marketed or stored at the earliest possible moment.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT UNION SERVICE

indicative of the state of mind of certain factions of American people. The next bore the picture of a pine tree, representative of a certain section of the country, but neither of these could stand as the emblem of a united nation because they did not represent unity.

"I am glad that the snake was removed from the flag," he said. "I am glad that our flag does not carry the insignia of the pine tree. There is no reason why a localized emblem should become our national emblem. But there are those in this country who would try to localize our flag."

The speaker then referred to the destructive elements of anarchy, of men and groups of men who care nothing for the united country and who would destroy our national emblem and remove the blue and the white and carry a flag of red.

"Unless we are a united people we are not worthy of a united banner," Mr. Hayward said. He said that the American flag has a deeper meaning to true Americans than ever before and that it stands for purity of thought and purity of idealism.

The speaker condemned the prize fight which was staged at Toledo on Independence Day. "The time will come," he said when Toledo and the state of Ohio will realize that the tragedy on July 4 put a blot of slime on our honored and hallowed banner that was displayed on that day."

In closing the minister made an appeal that in the near future the American banner might become the banner of peace; when nations will prevent war by settling disputes according to the word and the principles of Jesus Christ.

The music for the congregational singing was furnished by Goodwin's orchestra and the singing was led by John A. Barnett, assistant scoutmaster of the First Baptist church. The Rev. J. H. More of the Presbyterian church, president of the Ministerial Association, presided. Mr. More will deliver the sermon next Sunday. The scripture was read by the Rev. W. E. Carroll of the Central Christian church, and prayer was offered by the Rev. Charles W. Whitman, of the First Methodist church. Mr. More pronounced the benediction.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the sickness and death of our father and husband and also the undertaker the Rev. Eggers and those that sent floral offerings and those that donated the service of their automobiles. Mrs. Edward Kasting and children.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SEYMOUR LIBRARY

Institution in a Prosperous, Growing
Condition, The Statement
Declares.

RECEIPTS      TOTALED      $3,035

Circulation Shows Gain of 1,904—
7,705 Books in Library—Fiction Most Popular.

Miss Katherine Frazee, librarian at the city library, has completed the report for the year for that institution. It shows that the library is in a prosperous, growing condition and is gaining a place of greater importance in this community each year. The library fiscal year in the past has closed with September, but the Indiana library board asked all institutions to file their reports annually on the first of July so that the year would be uniform throughout the state.

The report in full follows:

To The Board of Trustees:

For the year ending June 1919 we are glad to report another year of growth and improvement and feel that we have had a very prosperous year in library work.

The total circulation for the year was 41,758, an increase of 1,904 over last year; the library being closed a month during the influenza made the gain over last year less than it would otherwise have been. The average circulation for each book in the library was 5.4 times.

Using the population of Seymour as a basis the circulation per capita was 5.96 books. Using the number of borrowers as cards in force the circulation per borrower was 13 books.

The fiction circulated was 60 per cent of the whole.

Reading list have been prepared for the grades of school children, also special reading lists for high school and lists and bibliographies for special subjects and different days. Schools have been visited and supplied with application blanks for library membership.

There are on file in the reading rooms for reference and reading 66 magazines and periodicals. Persons using the reading rooms for reading and reference alone were 11,220.

The library has undergone a thorough cleaning, the walls in the assembly room of the basement having been redecorated.

At the Indiana library meeting was held in Indianapolis, Jan. 7, 1919, the local library was represented by the librarian. Also at a district meeting held at New Albany.

A great work has been done by the American library association during the war. We have aided in this work by collecting books, money, and by issuing pamphlets, circulars, and by displaying circulars. We have kept on file and issued food bulletins and any material relating towards the war.

A clipping file of published letters from Jackson county soldiers and of all Jackson county war activities has been kept.

Following is the statistical report for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1919:

DAIRY TALK

GRAIN MIXTURES FOR CALVES

Wheat Bran Is Relished by Young Animals and Corn Has Excellent Physiological Effect.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When the calf is in its second week it should begin to receive grain, and when one month old it should eat about half a pound a day. After this time the quantity of grain may be gradually increased, feeding all that the calf will eat until three pounds a day is reached, probably during the third month. Grain fed to supplement separated milk should never be mixed with the milk. It is questionable whether the preparation of grain in any way, such as soaking or boiling, is advisable under most circumstances.

Wheat bran is eaten readily by young calves. Corn has an excellent physiological effect and to a great extent may take the place of fat removed from skim or separated milk. Experiments tend to show that corn fed to calves should be cracked rather than finely ground. Ground oats are good in grain mixtures when available, but in many cases cost much more per unit of feed than corn and bran. The following grain mixtures are recommended by dairy specialists of the United States department of agriculture:

1. Three parts cracked corn and one part wheat bran.
2. Three parts cracked corn, one part wheat bran and one part ground oats.
3. Three parts cracked corn, one part wheat bran, one part ground oats, and one part linseed meal.
4. Five parts cracked corn, one part wheat bran, one part ground oats, and one part blood meal.
5. Oats, ground.

Clover hay, alfalfa hay, or the most palatable roughage available should be given the calf after the second week. Alfalfa is likely to cause scours, and should be fed sparingly at first and increased only after the calf gets accustomed to it. At first hay should be furnished only a handful at a time, and be placed so that it cannot be soiled. For the first six months, at least, the calf should receive all the roughage of good quality that it will eat up clean. When the calf has access to good pasture during the first six months it need not receive other roughage. It is not advisable, however, to have the calf under two months of age on pasture in the early spring.

GOOD BLOOD ASSISTED DAIRY

Good Dairy Bull, Purchased as Calf for $100, Put at Head of Herd Is Good Investment.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A good dairy bull, purchased by a Montana county farm bureau member, cost $100 as a calf; it was put at the head of a herd of ten cows, the average annual production of which was 4,800 pounds of milk and 290 pounds of butterfat. The daughters of the bull have now replaced the old cows in the herd and exceed the production of their dams by an average of 102 pounds butterfat and 1,828 pounds of milk per year. This improvement nets $300 profit each year without taking into account the difference in value of the calves. A cow should "carry on" for at least six years, which would mean $1,800 additional profit from the ten cows, because of the $100 invested in the bull calf. "It was a bully good investment," says the farmer.

NEW PURE-BRED CALF CLUBS

Distinction of Having Largest Organization in United States Claimed by Wisconsin.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Wisconsin claims the distinction of having the largest boys and girls' calf club in the United States. The Winnebago County Calf club, organized by the county agent, already has 100 members.

It is being backed by the banks, the county superintendent of schools, the county agent, the secretaries of the breeders' associations, the officials of the County Fair association and the state leaders of young people's clubs. Any boy or girl can become a member of the club by owning and caring for a pure-bred or high-grade heifer calf or a pure-bred bull calf. The banks are furnishing credit to any of the juniors who need funds with which to purchase their calves.

The new calf club project is being promoted in conjunction with the purebred sire campaign. The 100 calves now being fed by the boys and girls were secured from Winnebago county breeders.

DEMAND FOR DAIRY PRODUCE

Bureau of Markets Will Furnish Plans for Stimulating Greater Consumption.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bureau of markets of the department of agriculture announces that it is prepared to furnish local organizations complete plans for campaigns to stimulate the consumption of dairy products in cities. A campaign at Sedalia, Mo., was conducted in February through the co-operation of the chamber of commerce, the women's division of the council of national defense, the state college of agriculture and other local organizations. Last year campaigns conducted by the department to encourage the use of dairy products were held in Boston, Detroit, Des Moines, Minneapolis and St. Paul. At Des Moines after a week's campaign the demand for milk became greater than dealers were able to meet. At another city a dealer who was marketing about 850 pounds of cottage cheese each week increased his sales to 850 a day, and in other cases much skimmed milk that had been going to waste was converted into cottage cheese and found a ready market.

INDIGESTION CAUSES SCOURS

Calf Affected Has Been Overfed, Been Given Milk That Was Sour, or Pails Were Dirty.

When the calf gets scours it is an indication that something is wrong with the feeding. It has either been overfed, been given milk that is sour or cold, been fed sweet milk one meal and sour the next, or the pails or troughs are dirty. Indigestion is the cause of scours, so in treating the trouble the first thing to do is to correct the conditions that brought on indigestion. Then give a dose of castor oil in milk and follow with the formalin treatment. This consists in giving one tablespoonful of formalin solution, made by adding one-half ounce of formalin to 15½ ounces of water, in each pint of milk fed. Only half the usual amount of milk should be given at a feed for a few days, when the amount can be increased to normal again. There are other remedies but this has been highly recommended.

TEST COW FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Law Makes It Compulsory in District of Columbia—Big Decrease of Disease Noted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

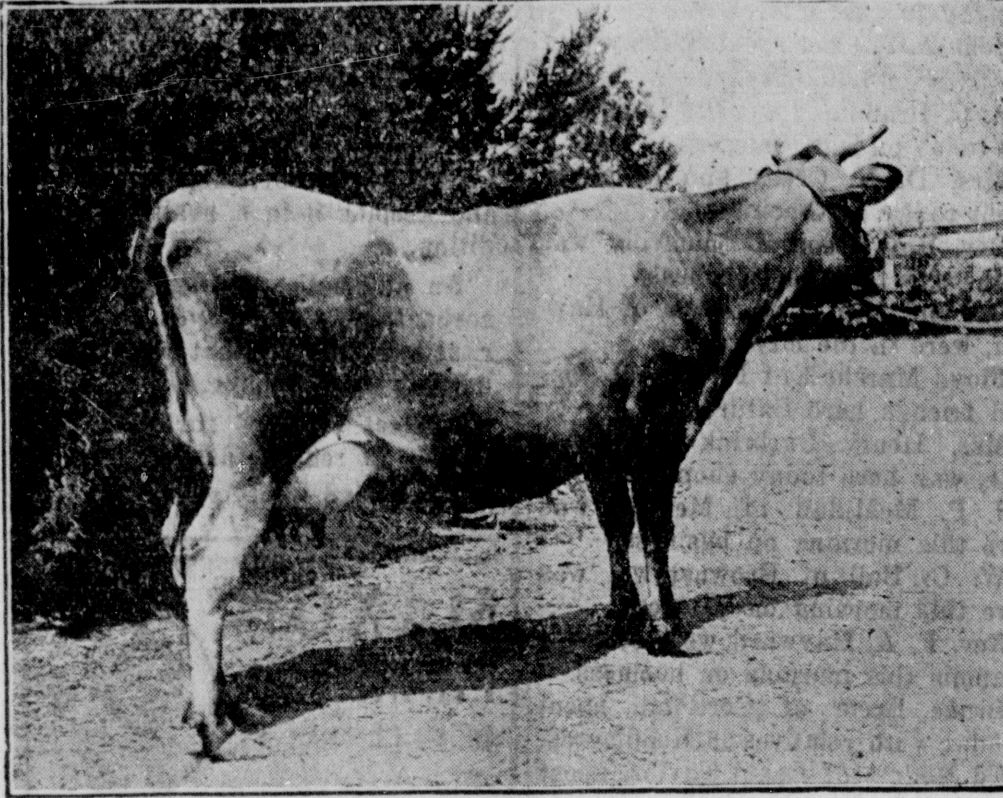

In the District of Columbia it is compulsory to test dairy cattle for tuberculosis. The law was passed in 1909. During the year which followed 1,701 cattle in the District were tested, and 19 per cent were found to have tuberculosis. In 1918, 1,206 cattle were tested and less than 1 per cent was found to have the disease. Since 1914 not more than 2 per cent of the dairy cattle in the District have been found to be diseased. This illustrates what systematic effort will do in the tuberculosis fight.

ENEMIES OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

They Are the Men Who Cause to Be Manufactured Poor Grade of Butter for Market.

There is a class of men who are more dangerous to the dairy industry than the men who use the substitute, and they are the men who cause to be manufactured a poor grade of butter. There is no substitute for first-class butter, but for butter made from old, stale cream there is not only danger of substitutes, but there is danger of many people not using butter at all.

Interested Jap's Santa.

While every college prides itself on the great statesmen, scientists and people of letters who have gained fame after leaving its portals, there is one college that prides itself on the greatness of a cow.

Interested Jap's Santa, the champion Jersey of California, owned and tested by the University of California, at Davis, Cal., has just completed her year's test with a record of 15,569.4 pounds milk and 940.72 pounds butter-fat.

AN ALFALFA FIELD URGED FOR EVERY INDIANA FARM

"Every farm in Indiana should have a field of alfalfa," says Prof. A. T. Wiancko, chief of the soils and crops department of Purdue University. "There is no longer any doubt concerning the adaptation of alfalfa to Indiana conditions. Its high feeding value and its ability to produce large yields are established facts. Many farmers in various parts of the state are successfully producing large areas and their experience and the experiments of the Purdue Station, which have extended into practically every county, have shown that its successful production is simply a matter of understanding its requirements."

Alfalfa may be successfully raised on any type of soil, provided it is well drained, sweet, free of weeds, and well supplied with organic matter and mineral plant food.

As pointed out by Mr. Wiancko and N. L. Fisher, also of Purdue the essential things to be considered in the growing of alfalfa are as follows:

Good drainage must be provided. The ground must be reasonably free of weeds.

Soils lacking in fertility should be well manured or fertilized, as alfalfa requires large amounts of plant food. Phosphates are most needed on Indiana soils.

Inoculation of the soil will generally be necessary and must not be neglected. Soil from a good alfalfa field or from a place where sweet clover is growing should be used for inoculating of alfalfa. If successful, it will pay better than any other crop.

Many people make the fatal mistake of expecting alfalfa to do well on soils that are not fit to grow any kind of a crop properly, say men at the university. Deep, loamy soils with open subsoils are undoubtedly best for alfalfa, but there is plenty of evidence to prove that it may be successfully grown on any type of soil from light, sandy loams to heavy clays provided that it is well drained and properly supplied with organic matter and plant food.

Every alfalfa field should be started with a liberal dressing of stable manure, if possible, and this should be reinforced with a high-grade phosphate. Experiments by the station have proved that manure is especially valuable in starting alfalfa since it not only supplies the necessary plant food elements, but also improves the physical condition of the soil and facilitates the inoculation process. A straight phosphate will pay best on all ordinary soils, according to Prof. Wiancko.

From 300 to 500 pounds per acre of high grade acid phosphate, basic slag or steamed bone-meal may be used with the assurance of large returns. The fertilizer should be applied and worked into the soil sometime in advance of seeding and may be applied to the preceding crop. After the alfalfa is well started, 200 to 300 pounds of acid phosphate or its equivalent should be applied each season right after the first cutting is removed.

Fully 50 per cent of Indiana soils must be limed before they will successfully grow alfalfa. This factor must not be neglected and if there is any doubt on the point, the soil should be tested for acidity. In the case of soils that are sour because of lack of drainage, liming alone will not be sufficient. Drainage must receive first attention and the soil must be put in the best physical condition by the application of organic matter and proper drainage methods.

Like all other legumes, alfalfa requires for its proper development certain species of bacteria which work upon its roots and gather nitrogen for it from the air. In the majority of cases where alfalfa is grown for the first time, it will need to be inoculated by some artificial means. The surest and most successful way to do this is to secure some soil from an old well inoculated field or from a place where sweet clover is growing and use this for the process. Care should be used to avoid transfer of weeds, seeds or plant diseases. The simplest procedure is to mix a gallon or so of the fresh soil with every bushel of the alfalfa seed to be sown. If the soil is dry, it will be well to first moisten the seed with a weak solution of glue or sugar and then thoroughly mix with the soil. This will insure every seed being covered with a thin coat of the soil.

The best time to sow alfalfa will always be a debatable question. If the weather is good and the soil conditions permit, good results may be obtained by sowing any time from February until August. The causes of failure to get a satisfactory stand are drought and choking by weeds or too heavy a nurse crop. Trouble with weeds has caused more failures in alfalfa than any other one thing, according to Mr. Wiancko and for this reason they should be given the proper amount of attention when the seed is sown.

Alfalfa growing in Indiana is discussed thoroughly in the revised edition of Bulletin No. 36 prepared by Messrs Wiancko and Fisher of Purdue. The bulletin may be obtained free on request.

Six States Follow Purdue: Start Rooster Week Campaign

Six states intend to follow the lead that Purdue University has established in inaugurating a Rooster Week Campaign in Indiana and have already disposed of their male birds or are planning to do so in the near future, according to reports received at the university. As a result of the work done by the poultry department of Purdue, Indiana was the first state to start a definite campaign against the rooster and now that the affair has proved to be a success, Illinois, Texas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas have decided that the cause of many bad eggs and high feed bills must go.

That it was a success in Indiana is evidenced by the reports that are coming in to the poultry department of the university from the various wholesale poultry houses over the state. Each one reports that while the campaign was going on, it received a larger number of roosters than ever before and that the summer eggs which are being shipped show signs of being of higher quality. The work has been indorsed by each concern as a good thing and something that should be continued.

MANY FARMERS TOURING PARTIES VISIT PURDUE.

Purdue University has become the haven for touring parties of farmers and persons in all walks of life interested in agriculture, judging from the large number who have visited the university in the last few weeks. For several years parties from counties throughout the state have been formed to drive or come by rail to the university and see what is being done in agricultural way.

Several groups visited the university during the spring, inspecting the experimental plots and the results obtained, the university farms, buildings and methods of extending the information obtained by experimental work over the state.

The real visiting, however, started June 10 when a party of farm paper editors from the east visited Purdue; June 12, Governor Brough and 64 other livestock men, planters, bankers and others from Arkansas visited the university as part of a tour in four northern states to get ideas in agriculture which might apply to their state; Friday, June 13, more than 100 farmers from Cass County drove in automobiles to visit the institution and they got through without a mishap in spite of the double hoodoo day; June 20, a party of more than 50 from West Point township, White County, piloted by John Nelson and Robert Stockton, visited the university, and the following day, 45 men and 15 women members of the Kane County, Ill., Farm Improvement Association, drove to LaPayette, a distance of 175 miles, to see what was being done to develop agriculture.

Jasper County farmers and those in a dozen other counties of the state are arranging similar visits which will come at various times during the summer.

"We came here to learn what we could about the successful system of agriculture which we know your institution has developed and which is being widely taken up in Indiana," said a member of the Kane County Farmers' Association. "We want to know what has been done in an experimental way and how you get the information to the farmers of the state, men like us, a hundred or 200 miles away from the institution."

Talks explaining the work and the aims of the institution were given by Prof. G. I. Christie, head of the extension work, and Dean J. H. Skinner of the college of agriculture. Every party that has visited the institution has been high in its praises of the livestock, poultry, soils and crops work, and every other feature of the university farm.

"We got the most helpful information at your place that we received at any of the four institutions we visited," wrote a leader of the Arkansas party after getting back home.

Community Co-Operation Solves Labor Problems.

Many communities in Indiana are solving their own labor problems without hiring outside labor at high prices. They are accomplishing this by an exchange of labor. The men on two or three farms will combine and use all the machinery available and will make their hay and cut their wheat. Two binders and two shockers in the same field are more efficient than the usual method of one binder and two shockers. Last harvest many cases were observed where only one shocker worked after two binders. When the field was cut down or while the horses rested one or both drivers assisted in shocking. It is possible for one man to shock 50 percent more grain when the binders are quite a bit ahead of him and he can work down the windrows rather than follow the binder about the field building only one shock at each windrow. The time and energy required to walk from one windrow to the other is thus saved, says W. B. Brumfield, Farm Help Specialist, in Indiana.

In haymaking, a crew of six or seven men, two of whom may be boys, are most efficient. These can usually be obtained from three farms. Early mornings are utilized in cutting with two or three mowers. The tedder or side delivery rake makes it possible to turn the hay and take it up sooner in the forenoon. Two men and a boy operate the loader in the field. One may operate the hay fork or sling at the barn and exchange wagons with the field gang. A boy operates the team or Ford to pull up the fork at the barn and one or two men—depending on the size of the mow and quantity of the hay—mow it away. A crew of this kind can put up a large quantity of hay per day and the efficiency is high.

Where hay is stacked in the field each year with the intention of having it baled soon, the push rake and "overshot", "swing around", or derrick stackers are available as labor savers. Where hay is pitched on the wagon by hand and the same men travel to the barn or stack with the load and unload it, the cost of production is so high with wages at the present standard that hay becomes a high priced feed and the margin of profit is small.

With one man for each sixty or eighty acres representing the permanent available labor and with modern labor saving machinery and neighborhood co-operation, any farm community in Indiana can handle its harvest time labor with but little outside hired help.

LIMESTONE MAKES ALFALFA WORTH $180 AN ACRE

Excellent results have been obtained by Edward Armand, a Jefferson county farmer in the use of ground limestone, to produce alfalfa hay. Three years ago Mr. Armand applied eight tons of ground limestone to the acre. Last year he had an excellent crop and this year the first cutting seems to indicate that his field will average more than six tons to the acre. At present prices, this will mean $180 to the acre. While a number of alfalfa growers in the same county get four cuttings a year, Mr. Armand says he finds three the most profitable, obtaining better yields.

PROPER SHELTER NECESSARY TO HANDLE LIVESTOCK BEST

"In many sections of the state housing conditions for livestock are neglected. It is not an uncommon thing to see men spending large sums for better blood and at the same time giving no thought or attention to proper shelter. This is altogether inconsistent," Dean J. H. Skinner, Purdue University.

HAND DOWN SOIL UNIMPAIRED.

"We have a heritage rich beyond compare. Unless we hand down our farms to our successors unimpaired in richness, we shall have lived at the expense of our children and all who come after us. Unless, too, we shall preserve an orderly government, based on the principle of equal opportunity to all, our rich fields, our increased flocks, will be of no value," Frank O. Lowden, Governor of Illinois

INDIANA LIVESTOCK TOPS ALL

"Indiana is proud of her present high place in the livestock records. Her breeders have produced and now own a large number of the best breeding animals in the world. The unusual high prices paid for animals bred in Indiana indicates their worth and the demand for them."—G. I. Christie, assistant secretary of agriculture.

POULTRY NOTES

Hens will lay in an inclosed nest rather than in an open nest.

Feed the growing pullets well and keep them coming. It pays.

The Leghorns and other egg breeds require less housing space and less feed.

Plan to keep all thrifty pullets and vigorous, healthy year-old hens for egg production.

The returns from poultry on the farm, for capital invested, are probably larger than the returns from any other farm enterprise.

It should be remembered that fifty henhouses are ideal places for the breeding of many kinds of insect pests.

There should be at least one nest for each four or five hens, and they should be kept clean and well supplied with nest material.

It is almost impossible to rear turkeys satisfactorily in a thickly settled community or where they cannot have free range for they do not do well when confined in yards.

Where Can I Find Relief From Itching, Terrifying Eczema?

Question on Lips Afflicted.

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source, which is in the blood, the disease which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle today, and you will see results from the right treatment. Medical advice free. ### CHAPTER III.

In Which We Take Ship Once More.

The discovery which—through my friend the dealer in "marine curiosities"—I had made, or believed myself to have made, of the situation of Henry P. Tobias' second "pod" of treasure, fitted exactly with Charlie Webster's wishes for our trip, small stock as he affected to take in it at the moment.

"Short Shift Island" lay a few miles to the northwest of Andros island. Now Andros is a great haunt of wild duck, not to speak of that more august bird, the flamingo. Attraction number one for the good Charlie. Then, though it is some hundred and fifty miles long and some fifty miles broad at its broadest, it has never yet, it is said, been entirely explored.

Its center is still a mystery. The natives declare it is haunted, or at all

A Mother's Happiness Made Perfect

Of Utmost Importance That She Have Every Care.

The expectant mother's physical comfort should be our first thought, and all about her should see to it that her preparation for baby's coming be complete.

There is a most splendid remedy to prepare women for the greatest time in their lives, known as Mother's Friend. It is applied to the muscles of the abdomen, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve strain on nerves, cords and ligaments. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand easily when baby arrives; the hours at the time are fewer, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally avoided.

Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and strength, and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided discomfort and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Discomfort during the period is counteracted, and the skin, after the crisis, is left smooth and natural.

events inhabited by some strange people no one has yet approached close enough to see. You can see their houses, they say, from a distance, but as you approach them, they disappear. Here, therefore, seemed an excellent place for Tobias to take cover in. Charlie's duck-shooting preserves, endless mari lakes islanded with mangrove copses, lay on the fringe of this mysterious region. So Andros was plainly marked out for our destination.

Sailor had watched his master getting his guns ready for some days, and, doubtless, memories stirred in him of Scotch moors they had shot over together. He raised his head to the night wind and sniffed impatiently, as though he already scented the wild duck on Andros island. He was impatient, like the rest of us, because, though it was an hour past sailing time, we had still to collect two of the crew. The two loiterers turned up at last and, all preliminaries being at length disposed of, we threw off the mooring ropes and presently there was heard that most exhilarating of sounds to anyone who loves seafaring, the rippling of the ropes through the blocks as our mainsail began to rise up high against the moon which was beginning to look out over the huge block of the Colonial hotel, the sea wall of which ran along as far as our mooring. A few lights in its windows here and there broke the blank darkness of its facade, glimmering through the avenues of royal palms. I am thus explicit because of something that presently happened and which stayed the mainsail in its rippling ascent.

A tall figure was running along the sea wall from the direction of the hotel, calling out, a little breathlessly, in a rich young voice as it ran:

"Wait a minute there, you fellows! Wait a minute!"

We were already moving, parallel with the wall, and at least twelve feet away from it, by the time the figure—that of a tall boy, cowboy-hatted and picturesquely outlined in the half light—stopped just ahead of us. He raised something that looked like a bag in his right hand, calling out "Catch" as he did so; and, a moment after, before a word could be spoken, he took a flying leap and landed amongst us, plump in the cockpit and was clutching first one of us and then the other, to keep his balance.

"Did it, by Jove!" he exclaimed in a beautiful English accent, and then started laughing as only absurd dare-devil youngsters can.

"Forgive me!" he said, as soon as he could get his breath, "but I had to do it. Heaven knows what the old man will say!"

"You're something of a long jump!" said Charlie.

"Oh! I have done my twenty-two and an eighth on a broad running jump, but I had no chance for a run there," answered the lad, carelessly.

"But suppose you'd hit the water instead of the deck?"

"What of it? Can't one swim?"

"I guess you're all right, young man," said Charlie, softened; "but . . . well, we're not taking passengers."

The words had a familiar sound. They were the very ones I had used to Tobias, as he stood with his hand on the gunwale of the Maggie Darling. I rapidly conveyed the coincidence—and the difference—to Charlie. It struck me as odd, I'll admit, that our second start, in this respect, should be so like the first. Meanwhile, the young man was answering, or rather pleading, in a boyish way:

"Don't call me a passenger; I'll help work the boat. I'll tell the truth. I heard—never mind how—about your trip, and I'm just nutty about buried treasure. Come, be a sport. We can let the old gub'nor know, somehow . . . and it won't kill him to tear his hair for a day or two. He knows I can take care of myself."

"Well! said Charlie, after thinking awhile in his slow way, "we'll think it over. You can come along 'till the morning. Then I can get a good look at you. If I don't like your looks we'll still be able to put you off at West End; and if I do—well—right-ho! Now, boys," he shouted, "go ahead with the sails."

Once more there was that rippling of the ropes through the blocks, as our mainsail rose up high against the moon and filled proudly with the steady northeast breeze we had been waiting for.

So two or three hours went by, as we plunged on, to the seething sound of the water, and the singing of our sails, and all the various rumor of wind and sea. After all, it was a good music to sleep to and, for all my scorn of sleeping landmen, an irresistible drowsiness stretched me out on the roof of the little cabin, wonderfully rocked into forgetfulness.

My nap came to an end suddenly, as though some one had flung me out through a door of blue and gold into a new-born world. There was the sun rising, the moon still on duty, and the morning star divinely naked in the heaven.

And there was Charlie, his broad face beaming with boyish happiness, and something like a fatherly gentleness in his eyes, as he watched his companion at the tiller, whom, for a half-asleep moment of waking, I couldn't account for, till our start all came back to me, when I realized that it was our young scapegrace of overnight. Charlie and he evidently were on the best of terms already.

Old Tom had been busy with breakfast and soon the smells of coffee and freshly made "Johnny-cake" and frying bacon competed not unsuccessfully with the various fragrances of the morning.

Benham has thought extensively and broadly, and his influence is certain to be potent in the shaping of this measure so that it will become a factor of essential aid in helping soldiers and sailors to an independent living.

He wants to help the soldier and sailor to establish themselves where they by the influence of personal ties and congenial associations are disposed to settle, and not have an

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

arbitrary rule as to where they must go.

Indiana has no land projects to present because no acreage of any extent is available, where the high stage of development would not make prices prohibitive, hence Mr. Benham has no personal bias for or against any section.

Mr. Benham has a most sane view of the term "reclamation." In his mind it takes the form of restoring farms that have been neglected and run down.

It does not mean the drainage of swamp lands taking an indefinite time to make into farms, but looks to improvement of properties upon which the purchaser can at once go to work, and soon increase their productive capacity.

Among the many men who are quietly seeking to serve their constituents by a real study of the problems before them, and their wise direction, Mr. Benham impressed me as a coming force, careful and cautious in the endeavor to reach right conclusions, open to suggestions and giving them full weight, but courageous and persistent in his purpose to favor what is practical, and essentially in the public welfare.

He is a genuine friend to the men who were in the war and as far as I can see has no personal advantages in mind, of any sort.

BILIOUSNESS Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people who are bilious are treated according to local symptoms they seldom get very much better. Whatever relief is obtained is usually temporary. Trace biliousness to its source and remove the cause and the chances are that the patient will remain strong and healthy.

Doctors say that more than 70 non-organic diseases can be traced to an Acid-Stomach. Biliousness is one of them. Indigestion, heartburn, belching, sour stomach, bloating and gas are other signs of acid-stomach. EATONIC, the marvelous modern stomach remedy, brings quick relief from these stomach miseries which lead to a long train of ailments that make life miserable if not corrected.

EATONIC literally absorbs and carries away the excess acid. Makes the stomach strong, cool and comfortable. Helps digestion; improves the appetite and you then get full strength from your food. Thousands say that EATONIC is the most effective stomach remedy in the world. It is the help YOU need. Try it on our money-back-guaranteed guarantee. At all druggists. Only 50c for a big box.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men may go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

WOMEN PREY OF LONELINESS

London Writer Says That Is the Cause of Their Tireless and Ceaseless Toil.

Men are amazingly and amusingly ignorant with respect to the mysterious life led by their mothers, wives, daughters and aunts. For years at a time a man may go on blindly with his work and his play and remain in total ignorance about the activities of these inexplicable beings. He is dimly and dubiously aware that they are not idle. In his paroxysms of intuition he guesses that his comfort and even his happiness in some fashion may depend upon their labors. But the greater part of his existence is passed in a sublime ignoring of all the immense miracles wrought by women every day of his life.

I have come to the conclusion that women are the loneliest of God's creatures, and that their loneliness is the great first cause of their tireless and ceaseless toil. James Douglas writes in London Opinion. Nearly every woman goes about with a lonely look on her face and the older she grows the lonelier she looks. There are very few lonely men, for men are gregarious. They are also, upon the whole, less imaginative than women. They live more on the surface. They do not possess that quality of power of living a secret inner life of contemplation and broodingly retrospective passion. Men live in and for the hour; women live in and for the past and the future. They are at war with their environment. Like Nora in "The Doll's House," they are always waiting for the miracle to happen. One seldom sees the print of tragic intensity on a man's face. One seldom sees anything else on a woman's. It is this veiled tumult of the soul that drives women into frantic and feverish labors.
